Boston University
Where should the scholar live?
In solitude, or in society?
in the green stillness of the country, where he can hear the heart of Nature beat, or in the dark, gray town, where he can hear and feel the throb of the heart of man? I will make answer for him, and say, in the dark, gray town.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY FUND

Greater Boston Campaign Among the Law School Alumni

On February 10 was started the campaign among the Greater Boston Law School Alumni. The organization consisted of a general chairman, Ex-Governor John L. Bates, '85, honorary chairman Senator David I. Walsh, ’97, and fifteen teams. These volunteer workers met each noon at the Boston City Club for a report. The report for the last day gave a total of $44,890, to which was added $31,685 already subscribed by graduates of the Law School through other groups, making a grand total of $76,575. It was unanimously voted by the organization to extend the campaign to February 21, in order to have a “clean-up” of those alumni who had not been seen. As a result, the total was increased from $76,575 to $87,560. It is fully expected that when a complete report from this group is recorded the amount will reach $100,000. This campaign completed the Greater Boston units.

Campaign — General

The Trustees of Boston University announce that the pledges so far secured from students and alumni, most of them in Metropolitan Boston, have reached almost one million dollars. They have also received word from New York that the General Education Board has appropriated four hundred thousand dollars towards the one and one-half million new endowment for the College of Liberal Arts, which is part of the four and one-half million dollars which the Trustees will soon ask for Boston University. So far there has not been a regularly organized canvass outside of the students and alumni in Metropolitan Boston.

Campaign Outside of Metropolitan Boston

The next step in the campaign is that of reaching our alumni groups in centers outside of Metropolitan Boston. Mr. Pierce has already left to conduct the New York City Campaign, which includes New York City and its suburbs. Mr. Heber R. Harper goes to the Middle West to set up campaigns at Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Kansas City, Detroit, and other centers. Mr. Elmer B. Mode is to cover New England, making Brockton his first stopping point.

The School of Theology Endowment Campaign

A meeting in the interest of the School of Theology Campaign for the Springfield District was held at Trinity Church, Springfield, on the evening of February 3, the occasion being the annual Methodist Social Union meeting. The whole affair was planned for and carried out by the Superintendent of the District, Dr. C. Oscar Ford. A supper was served by the ladies of Trinity Church. About four hundred were present, representing the churches of the Springfield District. President Murlin, Dean Beebe, and Bishop Hughes presented phases of the Campaign.

It was very evident from the spirit and temper of the meeting that the churches of the Springfield District will voluntarily and willingly assume their fair share of the endowment for the School of Theology, when the matter is presented to them. The University authorities were very greatly gratified at the results of this meeting.

In the Boston and Lynn Districts the campaign for the School is being presented to official boards as fast as opportunity is given. In every single instance the board has recognized the importance of this cause and has taken action, either referring the matter to the finance committee, or accepting, at this meeting, an amount which the church will assume as its share of the Endowment Fund.

BOSTONIA is now sent free of charge to all graduates of the University.
THE faculty of the School of Religious Education are in constant demand as speakers at councils and conventions in various parts of the country. The departmental notes in this issue will be found of unusual interest.

THE departmental notes of the School of Education give striking evidence of the remarkable growth of this new department of the University. The attendance for the year will exceed 1,100. In response to a request of the teachers of Winthrop a course similar to the one at Plymouth, to which reference was made in the last issue of BOSTONIA, will be given this spring.

THE demand for the Boston University War Record, at the special price of one dollar, continues. Remittances should be made payable to Boston University and sent to the Editor of BOSTONIA, 688 Boylston Street, Boston.

UNIVERSITY NOTES

The 89th birthday of President-Emeritus William Fairfield Warren was observed by Epsilon Chapter of the Convocation on Monday evening, March 13. The program included an address by William B. Snow, '85, and the reading of a letter from President-Emeritus William Edwards Huntington. The April issue of BOSTONIA will contain a fuller account of the gathering.

The Summer Session this year will present an enlarged program in all departments. It is expected that the enrollment of teachers will be particularly large, in view of the fact that the convention of the National Education Association is to be held in Boston this summer. In addition to the courses given last year, new courses will be offered as follows: in the College of Liberal Arts, courses in Architecture, Drama, English, History, Music, Physics, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, Spanish; in the School of Education, courses in the Junior High School, Secondary Education, Teaching of English, Mathematics, Science in Schools, general course in Administration, Social Education, Practice Teaching; in the College of Secretarial Science, courses in Advanced Shorthand by Mr. Walter B. Mechler, whose courses in the Sessions of 1920 and 1921 were well attended. The Summer Session of 1922 will open on Registration Day, Monday, July 10, and close Wednesday, August 23. The preliminary announcement will be issued shortly, and the Bulletin of courses early in April.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The annual conferences of the alumni teachers of the College of Liberal Arts will be held April 15, the Saturday preceding Easter. A detailed program will be issued later. A general meeting will be held in the forenoon, beginning at 10 o'clock, when addresses on vital matters will be given. Soon after 11 o'clock the departmental discussions will be held, following which a luncheon will be served at one o'clock. By this arrangement the afternoon will be left free for other engagements.

'00. The Boston Herald of March 1 announced that at a meeting of the school committee on the previous day Myron T. KATHERINE GILMORE POWERS

In Memorium

On the tenth of December, 1921, the class of 1906 of the College of Liberal Arts lost by death one of its most beloved and gifted members, Katherine Gilmore Powers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Powers of Foxboro, Mass. Born in 1882, she received her early education in the schools of her native town, from the high school of which she entered the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University in 1902. Those of her teachers still at the College remember well the delicate young girl, whose alertness, keenness, and brilliancy in class work quickly singled her out in almost any class recitation. She ranked with the highest of her class, easily making Phi Beta Kappa and obtaining at once a position as teacher of languages in the Lancaster High School. From there she went to the Fitchburg High School, where for five years she was head of the modern language department. This position she resigned in 1919 to accept a similar position in the Newton Classical High School. Just as her personality was beginning to make itself felt by her keen criticism, by articles in the Modern Language Journal, and by rare teaching ability, she was taken ill and never recovered from a painful sickness lasting about two years. The funeral services took place in her home in Foxboro, the Rev. Archibald Cullens officiating and the entire community extending its deepest sympathy to the bereaved parents.

It was the writer's privilege for a number of summers to visit this former remarkable pupil at her summer home in Siasconset, Nantucket, and to renew in memory the scenes of nearly twenty years ago in the old Boston University at 12 Somerset Street. All who ever came into contact, socially and intellectually, with Katherine Gilmore Powers will deplore sincerely the loss of a life so rich in promise. To all who knew her her life was an incentive to higher aims, aspirations, and ideals, and her memory will ever be cherished in most affectionate remembrance by her pupils, her teachers, and her friends.

A., in which work he was engaged in France, Germany, and in Italy until the spring of 1920. After returning to this country he accepted the position of Superintendent of the Educational Department of Methodist Missions in Jugo Slavia. '14. Canciones Populares. By Allena Luce, A.M., Assistant Professor of Spanish in the College of Secretarial Science of Boston University. Silver, Burdett & Co., 1921. Miss Luce began this work as Professor of Music in the University of Porto Rico, and finished it as Professor of Spanish in Baker University; but what is more important, once more within the fold she will count the royalties in our sister college on Garrison Street. It is only too rare that the instructor of modern languages concerns himself with the music of the people whose tongue he teaches. Speech, after all, is not so far removed from song as the layman might think. The foreigner often finds himself pronouncing a language accurately and speaking it fluently, but is baffled by that subtle, elusive music of the tongue which the native unconsciously possesses. Miss Luce, musician as well as linguist, is well equipped to supply the American public with examples of Hispanic music. She is also fortunate in her sponsor. Professor Ford of Harvard, the dean of American Hispanists and grandfather of many books on Spain and Spanish America, graciously states in a foreword that “Miss Luce has performed a task which should excite the favorable interest of our Spanish-speaking brethren . . .” The work can afford enjoyment and instruction to as many as will heed its message; and at the same time it can play its modest and useful part in the movement of sane Pan-Americanism.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The students in the Saturday morning courses at the College of Business Administration held a progressive Valentine Luncheon Saturday, February 11, at the Hotel Westminster. The guests of honor were President and Mrs. L. H. Muriin, Dean and Mrs. Everett W. Lord, the Saturday morning instructors and their wives, a representative from the Boston School Committee and from the Business Women's Club, and Charles A. O'Connor, mayoralty candidate in the recent election. President Murlin, Dean Lord, Professor Roy Davis, and Professor Atlee J. Percy, Director of Saturday Courses, were the speakers.

The College of Business Administration is conducting for the Malden Branch of H. P. Hood & Sons a course of sixteen lectures on salesmanship, under the direction of Professor Harold Whitehead. Ten members of the faculty, representing nearly every department of the College, are co-operating in this lecture series. The course began February 9 and will close June 1.

Professor Robert M. Jameson and Mr. Franklin W. Ryan of the Economics Department addressed the Morris Associates of Boston at a dinner at Young's Hotel on February 27 on the general subject of "Credit Principles and Interest Rate."

Professor Harold Whitehead, Head of the Department of Sales Relations, was the principal speaker at the annual Short Course for Country Merchants, held in Knoxville, Tenn., March 8 and 9, under the auspices of the University of Tennessee. Professor Whitehead spoke on the general subject of the "Problems of the Retailer."

To provide for offices of the College of Business Administration and the School of Education the Trustees of the University have leased the building at 99 Newbury Street, directly opposite the college. A number of the faculty offices now occupied in the College of Business Administration building will be placed in this annex and the space thus made available will be used for additional class and study rooms.

Plans have been made to admit sixty new Veterans' Bureau men to the College of Business Administration on March 1, which will make a total of 356 such men in training in the Day Division.

The total registration in the Day Division, exclusive of Day Division Seniors, is 1,218. This includes 56 new students who were admitted at the beginning of the second term, February 6, and discounts the 38 students required to withdraw on account of low standing, as well as those who dropped out on their own account. Of the 56 new men admitted in February 15 are transfers from other colleges.

At the beginning of the second term 343 new students were admitted to the Evening Division, bringing the total evening registration up to 1,535.

'17. William J. Lyons, M. B. A. '17, died suddenly at his home in Boston on Friday, December 30, 1921. Mr. Lyons was born in Peacedale, R. I., in 1865. He came to Boston about thirty-seven years ago. Becoming interested in accountancy, he studied at the Y. M. C. A. and then entered Boston University, receiving the Master's degree in 1917.
COLLEGE OF SECRETARIAL SCIENCE

Miss M. M. Duggan was a recent speaker at the Arlington High School. Miss B. N. Page represented the College of Secretarial Science during "college week" at the Taunton High School.

The freshman lectures in "College Life" are to be planned hereafter by a committee of students, who will meet with one or two members of the Faculty to outline the course and invite the speakers.

Mr. Heber R. Harper and Mr. D. D. Hoagland are rendering substantial assistance in the Theological School Campaign. A fuller statement regarding the progress of the campaign will be found in the editorial notes at the beginning of this issue of BOSTONIA.

'66. Rev. Otis Cole died in the early part of February. Mr. Cole was born 89 years ago in Stark, N. H. He was educated at Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, at Wesleyan University, and at the Concord (N. H.) Theological School. He entered the ministry in 1865. He had held a number of pastorates in the New Hampshire Conference. For several years he taught mathematics and the Bible in Central Tennessee College. He came to Haverhill in 1909. He is survived by a daughter, Helena Cole.

'75. Rev. George Wesley Buzzell of Nashua, N. H., died Sunday, February 12, at the New Hampshire State Hospital, Concord. Mr. Buzzell was widely known throughout New Hampshire as a social worker and founder of the Nashua Good Will Institute for Boys and Girls. After his graduation in 1875 he entered, the following year, the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church and held various pastorates in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Additional facts regarding John B. B. Fiske, who died on the 15th of last August, have reached this office. Mr. Fiske was born in Cleveland, O., on February 7, 1863. Three years later he graduated from the School of Law of Boston University and was admitted to the bar in that year. He was associated in the practice of law with James E. McConnell in Boston and did legal work as trial counsel for the Boston Elevated Railway. The funeral services were held on Saturday, February 18, at St. Angela's Church, Mattapan.

He is a Fellow of the American Geographical Society and associated with many public movements. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Dr. Sarah M. Hobson of Chicago recently made a short visit to Boston. Dr. Hobson was for a number of years the very able editor of the Journal of the American Institution of Homeopathy. Her retirement from this position left a vacancy which it has been extremely difficult to fill.

The Alpha Sigma Fraternity held its annual banquet at the Hotel Fritz Carlton on the evening of February 23. Much interest has recently been manifested in the Fraternity and some changes have been made. The local chapter has withdrawn from active membership in the Fraternity and has established an independent organization. This, presumably, is a temporary one, preliminary to affiliation with some other non-sectarian intercollegiate fraternity.
During the past month a new fraternity, Alpha Kappa Kappa, has been organized in the Medical School. Alpha Kappa Kappa is one of the strong medical fraternities of the country. It starts with an undergraduate and a graduate membership of such quality as to assure it of the co-operation of able, energetic, and successful men, including, as it does, a few members of the old Phi Alpha Gamma Society.

Dr. N. P. Colwell, Secretary of the Board of Education of the American Medical Association, made a brief visit to Boston recently. While here he renewed old acquaintanceships at the Medical School.

At the January monthly meeting of the staff of the Hospital Dr. Walter L. Mendenhall gave a very interesting paper upon "Influence of Tobacco Smoking on Human Sensory Thresholds." A full discussion followed the reading of the paper.

Dr. Louise F. Chamberlayne died on Monday, November 28, in Rochester, N. Y. After graduating from the School of Medicine she began practising medicine in Medina, going to Rochester about thirty years ago. In addition to her regular practice she was noted for her philanthropic activities. Her name is closely associated with the institution known as the Door of Hope, founded in 1896. She was a member of the Monroe County Homeopathic Medical Society, the Western New York Homeopathic Medical Society, and the New York State Homeopathic Medical Society. The funeral services were held on Wednesday, November 30, at the home of her daughter in Rochester, where she died.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

On account of the illness of Miss Mellyn and Dr. Andress, the course in "The Project Method," also that in "Mental Health of Children," had to be given up for the second semester.

A similar course to the one given in Plymouth this winter at the request of the Plymouth Teachers' Club has been arranged for the teachers of Winthrop in the spring. Other series of lectures, as extramural courses, will be provided next year under the auspices of the School of Education, the courses carrying credit toward the Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

Two new appointments will be made soon of assistant professors on full time. One of these will be head of the Department of Educational Psychology, Mental Tests, and Measurements.

The course in Americanization, or "The Teaching of Adult Immigrants," given in memory of Frank Victor Thompson, late Superintendent of the Boston Schools, has numbered over 300. The course was divided into three sections for the first hour session, and then united in a lecture for the second hour.

The total enrollment for the first semester was 842, not including the registration in special courses, such as the Americanization work, the Camp Director's Course, and Dr. Balliet's course in Supervision. With the registration of the second semester the total enrollment for the year will exceed 1,100. This will include 82 students on full time, besides 27 in the Art Department.
During the past month several members of the faculty of the School of Religious Education have attended significant meetings in their various fields of activity.

Professor Athearn has been in attendance upon the meetings of the Sunday-School Council of Evangelical Denominations and the Executive Committee of the International Sunday-School Association, held in Chicago February 14 to 17. The amalgamation of these two bodies into a single organization which will unite the Protestant Christian Educational forces of North America was effected at these meetings. The Joint Committee on Reference and Counsel, of which Professor Athearn has been a member, has during the past two years conducted negotiations which culminated in the fusion of these two Protestant agencies. This is thought to be the most significant event in the history of the American Sunday-School Movement since 1872.

Professor Herbert C. Mayer has been attending the annual meeting of the State Young People's Superintendents of Religious Education, held at Chicago February 7 to 12, for the purpose of reviewing reports of the past year's work and outlining the plans and policies for the coming year. Two of the students who are entering the field of young people's work at the close of the present year were also in attendance, on invitation of the Superintendent of Young People's Work of the International Sunday-School Association.

Professor W. I. Shattuck of the Department of Foreign Speaking work read a paper before the Council of Cities of the Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in Chicago during the month. Miss Alice M. Robertson, dean of Women of the School of Religious Education, was also a delegate to this meeting, as well as to the meeting of the National Methodist Hospitals and Homes Association, which was held just prior to the Council of Cities meeting.

The Fine Arts Department of the School rendered the first of two Easter demonstrations at the Suffolk Theatre at noon on February 6. Under the direction of Miss Lois Bailey, Instructor in Pageant Costuming, famous masterpieces of art were posed in living pictures. The theatre was crowded with ministers and lay workers in religious education from all parts of Greater Boston, as well as with University students who are interested in worthy observance of Lent and Easter in the Church and Church-School. Another demonstration was offered on March 6, in the form of an Easter Pageant created and presented by Miss Esther Willard Bates, Instructor in Pageant Writing and Production.
