2006-03-14

Why Europe will run the 21st century

Leonard, Mark
Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20136

Boston University
Board of Directors

Timothy Garton Ash  Director, Center for European Studies, St. Antony’s College, Oxford

Irena Grudzinska Gross  Professor of Modern Foreign Languages and Literatures, Boston University (Executive Director)

James Hoge  Editor-in-Chief, Foreign Affairs

Ira Katznelson  Ruggles Professor of Political Science and History, Columbia University

Michael Mertes  Partner at “dimap consult”, a think tank based in Bonn and Berlin

Krzysztof Michalski  Professor of Philosophy, Boston University; Rector, IWM, Vienna (Chair)

Pierre Rosanvallon  Director of Studies, Centre de Recherches Politiques Raymond Aron, EHESS, Paris; Professor of Modern and Contemporary Politics, Collège de France

Lilia Shevtsova  Senior Associate, Carnegie Moscow Center

Aleksander Smolar  Senior Research Fellow at the CNRS, Paris; President, Stefan Batory Foundation, Warsaw

Fareed Zakaria  Editor-in-Chief, Newsweek International

The Institute for Human Sciences at Boston University serves as a forum for new, non-partisan debate, research, and education in the matters of international (especially transatlantic) relations, introducing European insights and experiences to American debates on major social and political issues, and bringing American perspectives to bear on European discussions. It is affiliated with the Vienna-based Institut für die Wissenschaften vom Menschen (IWM), an independent, interdisciplinary center for advanced study in the humanities and social sciences.

www.bu.edu/ihs

Institute for Human Sciences
Boston University
745 Commonwealth Avenue
Boston, MA 02215
www.bu.edu/ihs

© Boston University, Aniaart Design 2006