2004-09-292

Conference: The concave mirror: the US and Europe look at each other

Boston University Institute for Human Sciences

http://hdl.handle.net/2144/20161

Boston University
The conference will present and discuss the results of a recent public opinion survey undertaken by the German Marshall Fund in Europe and the United States on European and American attitudes toward one another. Following in the footsteps of Transatlantic Trends 2003 and Worldviews 2002, this year's survey examines pressing transatlantic topics such as terrorism, WMD and threat perception; US and European willingness to use force; the role of the UN and other international institutions; the War in Iraq; Turkey and the EU; and the overall state of US-European relations.

R O N A S M U S
Senior Transatlantic Fellow, German Marshall Fund of the United States

K L A U S - D I E T E R F R A N K E N B E R G E R
Foreign Policy Editor, Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung

P A T R I C K J A R R E A U
Washington D.C. correspondent, Le Monde

J I M S M I T H
Foreign Editor, The Boston Globe

G A I L H A R R I S
Journalist, PBS and NPR