Boston University
As representatives of the Boston University student body, being our primary purpose to serve others as ministers of Jesus Christ, we must dedicate ourselves to the ethic of love, realizing that our means must be consistent with our ends.

We reject the use of force as the primary tool of social change, and seek to open channels of communication to effect meaningful change. We recognize the importance of clear communication, and we commit ourselves to making our goals and objectives clear.

We pledge ourselves to stand in the forefront of those who resist injustice in every situation. We call upon all those of good will to join us, and to help bring about the implementation of this great task.

Signed at the regular meeting, January 12, 1966.
